

Testimonial - Les Stone

Les Stone from Torrita has been buying rams from Glen Devon for about 20 years and says they are consistently good. “I’ve never had a disappointment in all that time. They are reliably good, stay with the mob and do the job.”

Les and his son are primarily croppers but still run 800 Merino breeding ewes (bought in Lines blood). They complement their cropping program and with more legumes grown these days they really perform on those stubbles and give extra income. They lamb in mid-April to mid-May, targeting the local sucker market in the 22-25kg carcass weight range and carry through 100-200 onto the stubbles to heavier weights.

The Mallee Ag News of February 5th reported that Les sold 64 lambs at $179.60/head in the January 29th sale, the first sale of the 2015 selling season at Ouyen.

There were many other clients scattered throughout the top sales quoted as well. Congratulations to all concerned. It is one thing to produce the ram genetics that give the right growth and carcass capabilities, but it is the management and husbandry skills of these producers who bring it to fruition.
